
DAYS OF RE-CREATION

A VIRTUAL PLAY

THE BASICS

Live & In Color is a not-for-profit theatre company that develops new plays and musicals that promote and celebrate diversity. Days of Re-Creation is a virtual play written entirely by writers of color. This play was commissioned by Live & In Color and is being offered for production with no licensing or royalty fees. We are inviting you to use this play with your students to expose them to writers of color and to give them an opportunity to work on pieces written specifically for the virtual medium. The plays can be used in a full virtual production scenario or for course work.

The Project

We are living in a time of incredible upheaval. Our daily lives are unrecognizable from a year ago. As a country we are undergoing a deep reexamination of the institutions that surround us. Each day it feels like we are recreating ourselves as individuals and rebuilding in new and better ways what has been corroded or purposefully torn down.

2020 will be seen as a pivotal year in the history of mankind. While it is a year full of fear, exhaustion, conflict, and death, it also has the potential to be a year of revolution, rebirth, and re-creation.

Each playwright wrote a 10-minute play on this theme of re-creation while also relating in some way to one of the 7 days of creation from the Book of Genesis.

Light and dark... by BD Wong

Sky and water... by Masi Asare

Land and plants... by SEVAN

Planets and stars... by Nandita Shenoy

Fish and birds ... by Lauren Yee

Land animals and humans... by AriDy Nox

Rest... by Erlina Ortiz

These plays are written to be performed specifically on a virtual platform.

In accordance with the mission of Live & In Color, these plays are intended to be written for and performed by a diverse cast. We encouraged our writers to write specifically for a multiethnic cast or to write roles that are not race specific. We also challenge theaters that produce this piece to not make the assumption that a character without a specified ethnicity is white. In order to produce this play, a theater must agree to cast roles written for specific ethnicities as such and roles without specified ethnicities as diversely as possible in their community.

The Plays

We have commissioned this play by seven prolific playwrights of color, including B.D. Wong (Tony award winning actor), Lauren Yee (Signature Theatre resident and writer of Cambodian Rock Band), and Masi Asare (winner of the Billie Burke Ziegfeld Award). See bios of all the playwrights at the end of this document.

There are 19 characters. This can be done with 7-19 actors. We expect the runtime to be around 85 minutes.

You can access the script to read at www.theatreincolor.org/recreation

Tickets

If you are using this play for a ticketed production, the tickets must be free of charge. However, you are welcome to use the production as a benefit to raise money for a local social justice organization.
